Module Name: Introduction to Banking & Finance
Module Code	w.BA.XX.2BF.XX
Module Description	Students gain an overview of the financial industry in general and the banking sector in particular. By examining the business management theories and concepts of banking, they learn about the structure of organizations in the financial industry and what the typical businesses and business areas are. The students examine the diverse relationships and interdependencies between bank structure, banking regulation, banking crises, and business segments. Students integrate an international and a national outlook as well as micro- and macro-level aspects to acquire a holistic understanding of banking. This module aims to bridge the gap between first-year studies and the main study period and acts as an introduction to other banking and finance modules.
