Module Name: Interdisciplinary Focus on Company Law
Module Code	w.BA.XX.2ISPUR.XX
Module Description	Students comprehend the management of a corporation from both a business administration and a legal perspective and are capable of recognizing problems in forming and managing corporations and of developing interdisciplinary solutions and implementing them. Students are aware of the potential legal and business issues that can arise in the context of establishing, managing, and restructuring a corporation. From a legal point of view, the focus is on corporate tax law, intellectual property law, stock corporation law, restructuring law (merger law), and liability law. The focus of the business management disciplines is on financial management (knowledge of accounting is a prerequisite).
